

Core Solutions

Leading mediation business, Core Solutions Group, recently moved office. They have dispensed with car parking spaces in central Edinburgh.

Chief Executive and Founder, John Sturrock, regularly cycles to and from work and all staff take public transport or walk.

The next challenge is to reduce air flights and make more use of the improving East Coast rail link to London.

Core's business in effective conflict management and early dispute resolution is very much about building a sustainable future and reducing waste – the waste of unresolved conflict, ineffective negotiations and unnecessary court battles, which cost the economy £millions in lost opportunities, wasted time, poor staff morale, and a backward looking blame culture.
